

Cummins honored with Covenant Angel pin 11-11-2007

Douglas Cummins, MD, FACS, has received a Covenant Angel Pin.

Published: Sunday, November 11, 2007 2:00 AM CST

Douglas Cummins, MD, FACS, has received a Covenant Angel Pin.

Covenant Angels is designed to provide patients with an opportunity to thank the angel in their life by making a donation to Covenant Health System in the doctor or caregiver's name.

The Covenant Angel program gives a voice to patients and families to say "thank you" for the care given by physicians and caregivers. The contribution allows the patient to pay tribute to someone who has cared for them in body, mind and spirit.

Cummins is the only medical professional in Plainview to currently have received such honor.

"I am extremely honored that someone would make a donation in my name. I enjoy practicing medicine in Plainview and work to give the best care to every patient. I'm excited that the generosity of individuals in our community will help us to continue building our strong medical community."

Cummins is a general surgeon with Plainview Surgical Care. A graduate of Texas A&M University, he earned a doctorate of medicine from Texas Tech Health Science Center School of Medicine and completed a five-year general surgery residency program at Michigan State University/Kalamazoo Center for Medical Studies in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Cummins is Board Certified in general surgery by the American Board of Surgery and is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.